

JLL Names Jacqueline Dompe to Lead Project and Development Services in the Northwest Region

SAN FRANCISCO – February 11, 2015 – JLL has appointed Jacqueline Dompe to lead its Project and Development Services (PDS) business in Pacific Northwest. She will be based in San Francisco and oversee project and development management teams handling occupancy planning, relocation, build-to-suit and other real estate projects for clients in the Bay Area as well as in Sacramento, Portland and Seattle.

Making the announcement, Elizabeth Hearle, Northwest Market Leader, said: “Jacqueline brings a deep understanding of the needs of clients and has consistently demonstrated the ability to translate that understanding into successful project solutions. She has built strong teams that have won numerous industry awards to serve client needs and we are delighted to welcome her to JLL.”

Ms. Dompe will focus on increased collaboration with, and support of, JLL’s brokerage organization, continued growth in its core PDS business and developing a strategy to further penetrate key market segments such as retail and multisite business.

She joins JLL with over 20 years of experience in successfully managing and driving business, specializing in strategic planning initiatives and cross-platform priority projects. In recent roles, Jacqueline was responsible for the successful financial and cultural transformation of offices across the western US, including recruiting, managing and developing industry influencing teams. As a Senior Vice President at AECOM, Jacqueline was responsible for driving the development of new business and integrating the delivery of a variety of services across multiple client sectors. She analysed and identified business trends and key performance indicators to influence business results and facilitated integrated practice and client relations, projects and public affairs.

Ms. Dompe received a Bachelor’s degree in business administration and environmental studies from the University of San Diego.

JLL’s PDS group, an industry leader in the management of design, construction and relocation services for a wide range of projects from interior build-outs to multi-site developments, manages more than 24,000 projects annually in the U.S., including $12 billion in projects currently under management. Late last year, JLL completed the purchase of Irvine, CA-based Martin Potts & Associates, a leader in project and construction management services for retail, hospitality, healthcare and office properties throughout California.
